

WEEKLY REPORT

The Traffic Unit Supervisor of the Wilmington Police Department wrote a letter to Chief Tiernan to commend Newark Police Officers: Sergeant Curtis Davis, Sergeant Dennis Aniunas, Master Corporal Wayne Aston, and Corporal Patrick Craig, for their assistance during the Memorial Service for fallen Wilmington Firefighters, Lieutenant Christopher Leach and Senior Firefighter Jerry Fickes. The letter went on to state; "Even in the inclement weather, each officer expertly coordinated with the individual escorts to and from four separate residences, two funeral homes, two churches and ultimately the Chase Center in Wilmington." The men and women of the Newark Police Department express their sincere condolences to the families of the fallen firefighters and were proud to assist in the service for these heroes who had given their lives to protect the community.

Corporal Darryl Saunders was recently asked to speak to students in an advisory class at Newark High School. The class engaged Corporal Saunders in a discussion of recent shootings involving police and African American citizens in various parts of the country. After a candid discussion of the topic, Corporal Saunders had the students participate in mock traffic stops where the students played the part of the police officers. This role play exercise gave the students a different perspective of the danger faced by police officers. The students were attentive and very interested during the presentation. Corporal Saunders was invited by the instructor to return to speak again in the future.

Ms. Anita Hunter has contacted the police department to advise she will once again be cooking Thanksgiving dinner and bringing the food to the police department for personnel working on Thanksgiving. Ms. Hunter has done this for many years, and the members of the police department cannot adequately express their gratitude to Ms. Hunter for the extensive time it takes her to prepare and deliver the dinner each year.

The Citizen's Police Academy continues. This week the class learned about Driving Under the Influence enforcement.

The Main Street Mile went smoothly with no significant issues reported.
